

Noise Festival- Call for Young Creatives

If you are you 25 or under and want to get into the creative industries; be it in television, radio, online or print, NOISE could be for you.

NOISE is an arts and media festival for all young people (25 and under); from now until May 31st you can submit your work to their media showcase which will be revealed in October this year. This will include having your work reviewed by some of the UK's leading creatives and potential investors.

Full details on how to register, and submit you work can be found at www.noisefestival.com
