

Red Creative Moves Privacy Policy

This Privacy Policy covers Red Creative Moves Limited treatment of personally identifiable information submitted to / collected by us, via the Red Creative Moves company website.

This policy does not apply to the practices of any other party that Red Creative Moves does not own or control, or to persons that Red Creative Moves does not employ or manage.

Red Creative Moves will collect / store / retrieve personally identifying information when you register your details with us, in the form of a Curriculum Vitae.

Upon registering your information, we will identify you by name, telephone number/s, email address/s, date of birth, gender, postcode, occupation, and industry.

Red Creative Moves will not share your personally identifiable information to anyone, with the exception of identifying you to a client with respect to a specific job application received by yourself.

You may request the complete deletion of your personal details in full at any time.

In the interests of continual improvement, we reserve the right amend this privacy policy at any time.

Should you have any questions, please contact us via any of the mediums listed on this site, and we will endure to respond to you within 48 working hours.